Hi Ed-

I've attached the most recent versions of Rebecca's and my CV to this email. If you have any problems with opening them, just let me know and I'll try re-sending them.

Sorry I didn't get back to you sooner - I've been sick for about a week. Anyways, I've attached a couple versions of a "cheat sheet" that I have on file. The first is pretty simple and straightforward (we find that this does not seem to confuse the jury and tends to yield a shorter/easier cross examination). The second is a specific one for a case I previously had where the ADA emailed me his likely questions and then asked me to review/comment on it. I hope that these can help, though you can also talk with Tim to see what has worked with him. Thanks.

Thank you for the heads up and yes I am new to the office, not new to the business . I would appreciate any "cheat sheets" you may have to prepare for direct examination. I'll keep you posted.

Subject: Comm. v. [REDACTED]

Hi Ed-

I wanted to let you know that I received your summons for the Luis Alvarado case scheduled for trial on 11-15-11 and that it is the only case I have that day (so far), so I should be available. Also, as I don't believe I've had you as an ADA before, we are normally on-call and it would take me about 45min-1hr to get there from receiving the call (I would need to put away whatever I was working on, change into 'court clothes', and drive there). However, if you know that you are definitely going to need me, there would be no problem for me to be there at a set time. Just let me know what you would prefer and if anything changes in the case that would affect me (plea, stipulation, etc.) Thank you.
